Alfalfa Bill Says:

SEE THE Harlequin Cabbage Rug is infestin' and pestin' the farmers over around Estancia. I don't know much about the cabbage bug, aside from the bug that makes some fellers eat corn beef and cabbage three times a day; but it reminds me of s chill bug that used to pesticate around in the valley of the allvery Ryo Grand. This yer bug lived in the chill pods and at night he used to fly around and flirt chilt offm his wings on the June bugs. Them there June bugs 'd sneeze and sneeze until you'd think they'd bust. Funny to see a big blunderin' June bug bumblin' through the air and sorter explode with a noise like a cap pistol goin' off.

It was finny, leastways ontil one of them chill bugs flew into my eye one day when I was tryin to put the feer o' fled into a outlaw bronk. Me and the bronk severed relations quite suddint. I had it on him, at that, though, for a buil flock o' them bags flew in his nose and he sneezed till all the fight was took out of him. Bugs sure b curus things. Some time when I ain't busy I may tell ye about the onion hug that put on such a whale of a show out to my place.
